Info on USATF Certified Course List

Lists compiled by Karen Wickiser, RRTC Registrar (mikewickiser@neo.rr.com)
Downloadable version by Bob Baumel, RRTC Webmaster (webmaster@rrtc.net)

This version is current as of 2003 January 02.

The list of USATF-certified road running courses in the United States is kept in two files: ACTIVE.TXT containing active certifications, and ARCHIVE.TXT containing courses which have been "archived" because they were replaced by a newer course, or have failed validation, or have been physically altered, or have automatically expired 10 years after certification. Archived courses which can be shown to be still usable may be renewed and restored to the active list upon application to the state certifier, although courses with F, U, and M status codes are "not" renewable. (However, according to a policy change approved at the 2000 USATF Convention, there will be no more renewals after 2010 Dec 31.)

The ACTIVE and ARCHIVE lists are provided on the RRTC website in separate, downloadable, zipped files. Therefore, the file you downloaded should have contained *either* an ACTIVE.TXT or ARCHIVE.TXT file, but not both (This same ReadMe file is supplied in both of the zipped files).

ACTIVE.TXT and ARCHIVE.TXT are both tab-delimited, plain text (ASCII) files, which you may open using any word processor or spreadsheet program, or a suitably sophisticated text editing program.

(Note to Mac users: Assuming that you've expanded the downloaded zipped file using Stuffit Expander, all of the ".txt" files will appear to have been created by SimpleText, so they will try to open in SimpleText if you double-click them. Unfortunately, the course lists are too big to be opened by SimpleText. Therefore, do *not* double-click them. Instead, open them with a word processor or spreadsheet program, or with a text editor such as BBEdit--see below.)

If you open the course lists using a word processor, you'll need to set tab stops to make the columns line up correctly (You may need to choose Select All before you start tinkering with tab stops). Also, because the list contains a large number of columns, you'll probably obtain best results by setting it to print in "landscape" instead of "portrait" mode. If you open these files in a spreadsheet program, columns will line up right away, but you'll probably want to adjust column widths to see all the information.

Some text-editing programs can also display this file, but it must be an editor that handles big files. (On the Mac, I highly recommend BBEdit: <http://www.barebones.com/>). Simple editors such as SimpleText (supplied with Macs) and Notepad (supplied with Windows) are NOT adequate because they're limited to small files (but the Notepad supplied with Windows NT can read long files).

Caveats in using a spreadsheet program: When importing an ASCII file to spreadsheet software, leading zeros tend to get stripped off (Note that 5-digit code numbers of all courses certified from year 2000 to 2009 include leading zeros). For example, a course ID code of "OK 00001 BB" can get reduced to "OK 1 BB". Another potential danger - race names can get corrupted if the software interprets part of a name as a date (e.g., January 5000 can get reduced to something like "Jan/00"). To avoid both of these problems (at least in Excel), specify that columns containing course ID codes and race names be interpreted as TEXT rather than GENERAL data when importing the ASCII lists.

The ACTIVE and ARCHIVE files are both organized in columns which are described below. For the "Status" (ST) column, we describe all of the possible status codes, although it should be noted that some codes appear only in the ACTIVE list and some only in the ARCHIVE list.

DISTANCE - Course distance in kilometers (km) or miles (mi). Marathons and half-marathons are listed with their exact metric definitions: 42.195 km and 21.0975 km respectively. For calibration courses and tracks, the DISTANCE column contains only the code "Cal" or "Trck" and the distance appears elsewhere in the listing.

COURSE ID - Composed of 3 parts, each in a separate column. These are:

- 1) State where course is located (2 letter abbreviation).
- 2) A 5-digit number of the form "yynnn" where "yy" = last two digits of the year of certification (e.g., "00" for a year-2000 course) and "nnn" is a sequence number assigned by the certifier.
- 3) Initials of USATF Certifier (2 or 3 letters).

ST - Status code. These codes are formed from the letters:

"A" = Active certification.

"R" = Exact Replacement for a previously certified course, with new certification number. Usually caused by correction or update of map. Course is exactly as originally certified.

"D" = Deleted by state certifier (usually because course replaced by a newer one, but sometimes for other reasons such as alteration by construction. The latter would now be given a "U" code but, historically, reasons for "D" codes are generally unknown).

"U" = Course has physically changed, is unusable as certified. Cannot be renewed.

"M" = No map on file (applies only to some pre-1985 courses).

"P" = Passed validation.

"F" = Failed validation.

"V" = Passed validation at more than 1 m/km. Considered pre-validated.

"X" = Expired - ten years has elapsed since original certification.

"A96" = Restored to active status after 10 year expiration. The number (96 in this case) denotes year of renewal. Renewal is available only for courses certified prior to 2001. Renewals expire on Dec 31 of the year determined by adding 20 to the original year of certification, or on Dec 31, 2011, whichever is earlier.

A codes appear only in the active list, while "D", "U", "M", "F" and "X" codes appear only in the archive list. Sometimes, two or more letters are used in combination. For example, "DP" means "Passed validation but later Deleted."

LOCATION - City where course is located

COURSE NAME/RACE - Self-explanatory

YEAR of CERTIFICATION - Year in 4-digit form. After importing the list to a spreadsheet program, this column can help sort the list to chronological order, compensating for the fact that our 5-digit course codes contain only 2-digit year designators which "wrap around" at century transitions.

DROP - Net elevation decrease from start to finish expressed as a fraction of the race distance in meters per kilometer (Negative values indicate net climb). Courses with any amount of drop may be certified, but for record eligibility, drop must not exceed 1.0 m/km (USATF Rule 185.5).

SEP - Straight line distance between start and finish expressed as a percentage of the race distance. If separation does not exceed 30% and the course meets the drop limit, it is automatically eligible for records. If separation exceeds 30% but the course meets the drop limit, it is eligible for records when it can be shown that there is no significant tailwind.

MEASURER - Name of the person who measured the course.

REPLACES - If this course replaces an older one, this column displays the ID number of the older course that got replaced (which would normally have been given a "D" status code and moved to the archive list).

Copies of the official Certificates (with course maps) are available for all courses in this list except those with "M" status codes. To obtain a Certificate/Map, send the Course ID number with a $2.00 processing fee to:

course list, contact Bob Baumel (webmaster@rrtc.net).

This course list is updated every two months. The current version can always be downloaded from the RRTC downloading page at <http://www.rrtc.net/download/> where you can also obtain small "current" files, updated every few weeks, listing courses certified since the last bimonthly update to the full list.

USATF CERTIFIED COURSE LIST

The following is a list of all USATF certified courses as of January 2, 2003.
